EDITORIAL JOTTINGS.

Admiral Polo will continue to represent the Spanish government at Washington.

The California Legislature has offered a reward of $15,000 for VASQUEZ, a celebrated brigand.

Claims exceeding $100,000 against the United States have been presented to the Mexican Frontier Commission.

Petersburg, Va., has in operation the letter-delivery system, and yet her people are not happy—they want a new charter.

Petersburg, Va., wants a new charter having for its object the welfare and substantial benefit of all the good people of that city. The Legislature has been petitioned to this end.

An exchange says that the name of Attorney-General WILLIAMS will never be mentioned in public again without reminding men of the gray horses driven by his wife at the public expense.

Under the laws of Congress it is a crime to obstruct trains carrying the United States mails, punishable with imprisonment in the penitentiary. The Postmaster General has given instructions to proceed at once against all persons who have obstructed the mails during the present engineers' strike. Some of them will find that the consequences are considerably graver than were at first imagined.

The people of Wilmington, N.C., are greatly enraged that the place selected for the sinking of the Virginian should have been right at the mouth of their harbor, and in the channel and track of their commerce. Lying where the wreck does, it endangers every ship that passes in or out of that port. The opinion is unanimous there that the vessel was designedly sunk.

According to the Pall Mall Gazette "three of the great nations of the world are at the present moment simultaneously engaged in the consideration of one of the most difficult questions which can come before any statesmen, France, Italy, and the United States all labor under the disadvantages which are inseparable from an inconvertible paper currency."

"The Republican party is deservedly known by its acts throughout its entire history as the party of advancement."—Washington Republican.

Louisiana, South Carolina, North Carolina and other Southern States have ample cause to know that it is a party of "advancement." Hide the impoverished condition of these States and their present indebtedness.

The question now is, who will be sent to Spain in place of Mr. CUSHING?

The late JOHNS HOPKINS, the Baltimore millionaire, in his will provided that a given number of scholarships should be annually given to the youths of Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina in the Hopkins hospital founded by himself, and for which he provided so liberally.

Gen. ROGER A. PAYSON, formerly of Virginia, a member of the U.S. House of Representatives in 1839, and a fiery secession General in 1861, but now of New York City, has not astonished those who know him best by his late charming speeches to the Abolitionists of Brooklyn, in which he made savage denunciations of his own people and of the sin of slavery. An exchange apologizes for him by saying that he is of a poetic temperament.

The Petersburg Index-Appeal, according to the intimation that Gov. KEMPER will visit Washington at the invitation of President GRANT, for the purpose of holding a conference upon political matters, says: "If Grant wants to see our Governor let him come to Richmond or meet him half-way at Alexandria or Norfolk. In the name of the people of Virginia, we protest, however impotently, against any visit of the Governor of this Commonwealth to the White House or the Capitol at Washington."

What is the amount of the debt of the city of Raleigh? How much of it is funded? How much of it is floating? The citizens of Raleigh would like to have these questions answered.

The Washington Republican is engaged in hunting up evidence of "ill treatment" towards the blacks of the South in order to bolster up its advocacy of the Civil Rights measure.

The Enfield Times has commenced its second volume, and we are glad to learn that it is in a most prosperous condition. The Editor says: "The Times will ever be found battling for the right, for truth, for the interests of Halifax county, of Eastern and Middle North Carolina. As such it is a candidate for public favor."

The New Chief Justice. The nomination of Hon. CALER CUSHING, of Virginia, for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, in place of WILLIAMS, whose nomination the President was compelled to withdraw, seems to give universal satisfaction, and to call forth from the public press sentiments of strong approval and endorsement.

Mr. CUSHING's abilities, experience and character point him out as eminently fit for the exalted position, and the fact that he has taken no active part in politics since the close of the war is also another recommendation in his favor.

There are few able lawyers, if any, in this country than CALER CUSHING, and the whole country is to be congratulated that the robe of MARS is for TANT and CHASE has not been upon the shoulders of a second. Attorney and a Radical zealot.

The Legislature.

This body again assembled at the Capitol yesterday, after a recess since the 22nd of December. The State press generally express the hope that the session will be short, and thus save a heavy expense to the State, but at the same time hasty legislation is deprecated. The following from the Enfield Times of Saturday is well expressed:

"In the present hard times the people expect that the public business will be dispatched with all possible speed, and the Legislators return home to pursue their usual avocations; thus relieving the State from any unnecessary expense. We are in favor of a short session and trust that what remains to be done will be done without unnecessary delay. But there is such a thing as too great haste. Important measures sometimes fail for want of only a few days' deliberation."

There members have had a recess and have thus had an opportunity of seeing their constituents and ascertaining the wants and the will of the people. This will, no doubt, hasten legislation. Much remains to be done. The vital interests of the people of the State—those interests, the promotion of which go towards making the people prosperous and the State wealthy, have not yet received the attention their importance requires. Immigration, the protection of stock, the encouragement of home manufactures by exempting them in whole or in part from taxation for a specific time, &c., &c., with all respect to the General Assembly, have not been duly considered.

"Something should be done to increase the material wealth of the State. This can only be effected by encouraging manufactures and by inducing the immigrant to come with his money, and what is better, his muscle and brain. Virginia is in every effort to bring into her borders next spring, an immense immigration from England. Why should not North Carolina share in this with her great neighbor? Let the Legislature do all it can to effect this result."

New Counties.

This is emphatically the era of change as well as of progress. But change is not always progress, and it sometimes happens that change is actual retrogression.

There has rarely been a Legislature in this State which has not been besieged by propositions for new counties or for changes of county lines.

There is sometimes merit in such propositions; but occasionally they are made either in the interests of individuals or from motives of whim, caprice, or partisan influence.

We think it is about time for the Legislature to put a stop to the formation of new counties. There seems to be an unaccountable mania in some sections of the subject.

There are now ninety-three counties in North Carolina, and the increase in the number of counties keeps rapidly and disproportionately in advance of the increase of population.

The Constitution provides that the House of Representatives shall be composed of one hundred and twenty Representatives, chosen biennially by ballot, to be elected by the counties respectively, according to their population. Each county shall have at least one Representative, although it may not contain the requisite ratio of representation. The General Assembly is directed to make the apportionment; and in making the apportionment for the House, the ratio of representation is ascertained by dividing the amount of the population of the State, "exclusive of that comprehended within these counties, which do not severally contain the one hundred and twentieth part of the population of the State, by the number of Representatives, less the number assigned to each county. To each county containing the said ratio, and not twice the said ratio, there shall be assigned one Representative; to each county containing twice, but not three times the said ratio, there shall be assigned two Representatives, and so on progressively."

Taking the census of 1870 as a basis of calculation, we had in that year a voting population, including whites and blacks, of two hundred and fourteen thousand, one hundred and forty-two. Dividing this number by the number of Representatives in the House, one hundred and twenty, we find that the average number of voters to each Representative is seventeen hundred and eighty-four. Now, if we examine the number of voters in some of the new counties, we find that a large majority of them do not contain anything like the voting population required on the average for a Representative in the House. For instance, Pamlico and Dare in the East, do not together contain enough voters for one Representative; the former having eight hundred and four, and the latter six hundred and forty-seven voters, making a total for the two counties of fourteen hundred and fifty-one voters, or three hundred and thirty-three less than required by the average for each county. Again, if we take the new counties of Swain and Clay in the West, the disproportion will be still more apparent. Swain cast only three hundred and sixty-one votes in the election for Governor in 1872—its voting population is not put down in the census, while Clay could boast in 1870 of only four hundred and ninety-nine voters in all. So that Clay and Swain combined do not contain one-half of the average voting population required for a Representative. But still these counties are each entitled under the Constitution to one Representative, regardless of the fact that they contain less than the ratio of representation.

The Enfield Times has commenced its second volume, and we are glad to learn that it is in a most prosperous condition. The Editor says: "The Times will ever be found battling for the right, for truth, for the interests of Halifax county, of Eastern and Middle North Carolina. As such it is a candidate for public favor."

The New Chief Justice. The nomination of Hon. CALER CUSHING, of Virginia, for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, in place of WILLIAMS, whose nomination the President was compelled to withdraw, seems to give universal satisfaction, and the fact that he has taken no active part in politics since the close of the war is also another recommendation in his favor.

ties that send two, or three or four members to the House.

In a number of the new counties already formed, we understand that no courthouses or jails have been erected, and the people are opposed to being taxed for the purpose of building them. The Courts are held in some instances in cabins or out-houses, and great inconvenience and embarrassment are occasioned by the want of suitable public buildings. There are various expenses incident to the formation of new counties which are not taken into consideration by some persons who so clamorously advocate them, and after they have carried the measure through, neglect to make any provisions for the maintenance of the rights and privileges of the counties so formed.

We trust the Legislature will consider carefully before it enacts any more bills for the formation of new counties in any section of the State. Surely ninety-three counties are enough for our present population. It will be more becoming in us, by a course of wise legislation, to fill up with immigrants the counties we already have than to add new ones, and thus entail additional expense without any corresponding benefit.

"A young man about sixteen years of age, named Atwood, a nephew of Mr. F. A. Newberry, of Magnolia, died at that place on Thursday from the effects of an overdose of chloro-form, used in the performance of a dental operation."

Married, in Brownsville, Tenn., on the 7th inst., by Rev. William Bond, Mr. Daniel Bond, Editor Enfield N. C. Times and Miss Maggie Bond, of Brownsville. — Enfield Times.

We extend our hearty congratulations to friend Daniel upon his good fortune and his escape from the world of bachelordom.

Says the Enfield Times of the 10th inst.:

"Bishop Gibbons, of Richmond, while at the residence of Edward Congland, Esq., in Halifax, on the night of the 5th inst., was aroused from sleep, a little before day, by a noise in his room, and called out 'Who is that?' when he discovered a negro in the room in the act of re-treating. The negro had a portion of the wearing apparel of the Bishop; but in his haste to escape, dropped it. In the pocket of the vest was about one hundred and fifty dollars in cash; in the room were some valuable, among which was an elegant gold cross and chain. Fortunately the rogue did not get anything. It is time people were more vigilant in se-curing their dwellings."
